THE BIG CITIES hundreds of thousands went for their holiday in automobiles. A philosopher said, "Most of the cars are not paid for. In thousands of cases they represent money that would have meant independence if old age."

The automobiles represent money spent for health, pleasure and time saving NOW. Not one in ten is really independent in old age, nor was he before automobiles came.

Better buy a car, enjoy it, and use the added health and time saved to work for independence. No car, wisely used, ever made a man poor.

It is hard to keep prices up when goods are plentiful. That applies to a merchandise called "money."

Big boys, seeking to check stock gambling among little boys, put call money up to 10 per cent. Immediately, money poured into Wall Street from the West, New England and Europe, and the rate dropped to 5 per cent.

look out for a large red bull that may cross your path. He's not far away.

The League for Sexual Reform, gathered in Copenhagen, says it will "free human beings from the reeling of sin and crime in the field of their deepest emotions."

In this part of the world many are doing well in that direction without help from any league.

MYSTIFIED BY DEATH OF LOWENSTEIN IN FALL FROM PLANE INTO SEA

Boulogne Sur-Mer, France, July 5.—The mystery of whether Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, noted Belgian financier, jumped or walked absent mindedly or fell by accident from his private airplane while over the English Channel, last night, had not been cleared by preliminary police investigation today.

His huge financial affairs were said to be in good shape. News of his death sent stock prices down in virtually all European exchanges but it is said to have had no effect in American quotations. His body has not been recovered.

Aviation experts here are inclined to believe that the plane was not recovered.

BIG INCREASE IN SALES OF ELCHO CIGARS SHOWS SMOKERS CAN'T BE FOOLED

The big increase in the sales of HAND MADE ELCHO cigars shows that smokers cannot be fooled by other manufacturers who are making cigars by machine and advertising them as follows:

One Boston competitor is advertising his machine made cigars as "hand rolled."

Another manufacturer is advertising machine made cigars as "finished by hand by skilled workmen."

Advertising boxes of another competitor making cigars by machine bear the words—"hand made." And so it goes.

Remember, the Elcho Cigar Co. is the only big Boston cigar manufacturer making cigars by hand.

LOWELL BOY BANDIT SPURRED TO HOLDUP BY QUARREL WITH GIRL

Lowell, July 5.—Love-sickness and lack of employment were the factors that caused Byrnie J. Desrochers, who was charged to death during an attempted holdup, to start a life of crime, police stated today.

Desrochers was beaten and strangled to death during a terrible struggle which, the police say, followed his attempt to hold up Mrs. Harry C. Kittredge of Georgia ave., wife of the star of Finto View dance hall in Bracon.

He learned that he quarreled with the sweetheart last Sunday. "I'll be sorry," he told her during the quarrel. "I'll do something about it. And you'll regret it."

He laughed at his threats when he told her that he had planned a premonition that his carefully planned criminal venture would not succeed. He laughed again. "Oh, I never dreamed he'd do such a thing."

21 IMPERILLED BY GAS FUMES

Children and two children, Mr. and Mrs. James B. McWinn. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dimas.

The Revere gas victims were: Martin Brennan, 13; J. S. Briggs, 50; John Murphy, 14; Harvey Landers, 21; Mrs. Mary Landers, his mother, 49, and Ellen Hayes, 2.

The Malden fumes were discovered by Mrs. Wright, who was awakened by a choking sensation and found herself ill. Nevertheless, she awakened other members of the family, and then other occupants of the house were aroused.

FALLS UNCONSCIOUS

Mrs. Dowd, the elder, was unconscious when Dr. John C. McCarthy of Malden arrived, but he resuscitated her without difficulty.

It was found that the gas originated in a leak at the street main and followed the lead pipes into the house.

The keen nose of Patrolman Maynard Rogers of Revere, probably saved the lives of the Oak Island occupants. This gas case is thought to have been caused indirectly by yesterday's cloudburst, as a gas pipe was broken at the elbow and may have been snapped in the settling of the cottage.

Policeman Rogers was walking his beat when he detected the odor of gas. After fifteen minutes he succeeded in tracing it to the cottage but could get no answer when he beat on the door.

SAVED BY POLICEMAN

Forcing a window, the policeman entered the cottage, every room of which was full of noxious fumes.

Brennan and Briggs were unconscious in a bed in one room, while the girl, Ellen Hayes, was unconscious in another room. The others in the cottage were on the verge of being overcome when Officer Rogers halted and half-dressed them out into the air.

Several physicians were called, among them Mayor John B. Walsh, and the patients were revived with the aid of gas company emergency crew and physician.

Airplane Drops Life Preserver to Drowning Man

Long Beach, Wash., July 5 (AP)—A life preserver dropped by the pilot of an airplane who had seen his plight in the surf today, saved the life of Clarence Wheaton of Independence, Mo., when he was caught by treacherous currents quite a distance off shore here.

Friends had tried in vain to reach the drowning man from shore. Two strikers, Derek and Monroe, seeing the struggling man, dropped him a life preserver, which Wheaton grasped and held until reached by a boat.

He was exhausted when rescued but was revived by artificial respiration.

NICHOLS VOTES

Mayor Nicholas, chief magistrate of the city, with City Collector George H. Sullivan were walking across the Common, near the Boston Evening American's polling precinct and were attracted by the huge crowds waiting to vote.

He was not long in deciding that it was a good time to register his vote and he forthwith marked his ballot in secret and deposited it in the ballot box. He was the first city official to do so.

TAPS SOUNDED FOR SLAIN POLICEMAN

While police were still searching for clues to his murder, Patrolman Henry J. Gilliland of Medford was buried today with full civic and military honors.

The slain policeman's widow became hysterical at the grave, crying: "Oh, Francis, oh, my Francis, oh, my what they did to you!" Friends led her back to her automobile.

TAPS ARE SOUNDED

Commander Patrick McNally of Medford Post, American Legion, directed the military service in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford. These included the firing of a volley across the grave and the sounding of taps.

An escaped convict who had been sought by police in connection with the attempted robbery of a Medford drug store, was eliminated as a suspect by the police today.

Little Rock, Ark., July 5.—Senator

Joseph T. Robinson, the Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee, in an Independence Day address here, declared "the age of bigotry has passed" and that "no man should be preferred or discriminated against in public authority because of his affiliation with a particular church."

"Religious liberty is now the subject of frequent and sometimes bitter discussion," he said. "Indeed, colonial history reveals disputes and persecutions in almost all the colonies wholly inconsistent with the teachings of any Christian sect. The blame is now placed on the provisions in the state articles of the first amendment to our Constitution intended to set at rest forever agitation respecting the subject."

"In great national emergencies our people do not wait their enemies in fruitless controversies. They do not question the religious faith with which the citizen is allied."

CONTEST OPENS MOVIE CHANCE FOR CHILDREN

A three-months' trip to glorious, sunny California!

A weekly salary of $100 a week for those three months!

An opportunity to be a real movie actor during that period and appear in "Our Gang" comedies!

These are the wonderful prizes that are offered by the Boston Evening American and Low's Orpheum Theater in the most novel movie contest ever arranged. It's the chance of a lifetime and every child who enters has an equal chance of winning.

Not only will the winning child be given $100 a week for three months while taking part in the making of "Our Gang" comedies at Hollywood, the famous film center, but the expenses of the parents to and from there will be paid.

The contest is such a simple one that it appeals to children and parents alike. The Boston Evening American wishes to find "doubles" of the six principal kiddies whose antics in "Our Gang" comedies have tipped off many a button from laughter.

OLD FRIENDS

You remember them—"Whizzer," the funny little like; Joe Cobb, the fat boy; Dusky Farina, lovely Jean Darling, the blonde "camp"; Mary Ann Jackson, she of the bright eyes and turned up nose, and Harry River, who has more freckles than a dog has fleas.

These lovable youngsters, who have brought so much happiness into all our lives, by making us forget our troubles, surely have "doubles" in this country of ours.

Perhaps you know a child who looks like one of them. If so, why not arrange for that boy or girl to enter? That child may win the grand prize with its wonderful trip to California for three months for

GIRL-MOTHER IN BATTLE WITH REVERE THUG

Mrs. Mary Britt, 17 years old and mother of a baby of only a few months, was the victor in a terrific struggle with an armed bandit, who attacked her as she was making her way through a field to her home in Salem st., Revere.

Although knocked down three times, struck with the butt end of a revolver and scratched about face and hands, the plucky young woman fought off her assailant and reached her home where she collapsed.

The attack occurred shortly before midnight when Mrs. Britt was returning from Revere Beach.

"When I reached the corner of the field a man about 35 years old, with no hat and dark wavy hair just like a girl's marcel, stopped me and told me to not say a word," she said today. "I screamed. He said he'd kill me if I uttered another word. He pointed a revolver at my head, and when I started to run he chased me, struck me with the revolver."

"He knocked me down three times, scratched my face and struck me with his fists. My leg was cut the third time I fell. I kept running and running until I reached the lighted street. There the man disappeared."

Police Inspector Frank J. Nolan picked up several suspects today, but they were released when each proved he was not at the scene of the attack.

16,737 letters brought these seconds, samples, surpluses and odd lots

read the story
"Get your check—Have you got your check?" was the cry that greeted our entrance to the New York Office on Wednesday morning, last week.

Sixteen thousand seven hundred and thirty-seven letters had gone out to makers asking for their odd lots, seconds, samples, etc., and in they came—bundles under their arms and outcasses and boxes bulging with their heavy loads.

"Get your check—Take your turn according to numbers"—and the first to come were the first to be interviewed—everybody in turn was the order of the day.

The first man came at half past eight—some came from near and far—from one end of the city to the other—some stood for hours eagerly waiting to show their wares.

Big merchants and small ones—representatives from some of New York's largest concerns—one woman who came brought with her the entire stock of a specialty shop—coats, suits and dresses—bally out of date—and you should have seen it ornamenting the walls of the showroom.

One of our buyers interviewed 54 makers in a single day—we bought large lots as big as 5,000 pieces and small lots of only 30 pieces.

All day long the telephone rang—hundreds of calls were recorded while buyers were too busy to be interrupted—and the mail man brought hundreds of letters from makers who couldn't call personally.

What a busy day—and when the last caller had gone—the bargain orders were stacked high—Boston shoppers have some interesting savings—they are here now!—come early!

the parents as well as the child. Perhaps you have previously remarked on the resemblance of some child to one of the "Our Gang" group.

Even if the child you have in mind does not win first prize, he may have an opportunity to appear in a local "Our Gang" comedy which will be staged in Boston in connection with the contest.

As the competition nears its end, six "finals" will be conducted on the stage of Loew's Orpheum Theatre stage. The first eight all the youngsters who think they look like "Whoopee" will appear, and the judges will select one they believe looks most like that happy kiddie.

The second night all the freckle-faced lads in this section will appear and one will be picked. This process will continue until six children are chosen, and they will play the parts of the six principal characters in a local "Our Gang" comedy.

Hundreds of other children, whose names are entered in the contest will have a chance to take part in the big scenes.

The six selected in Boston will compete with six others from each of 24 American cities, where Loew's theatres operate, for the main prize. Hal Roach, producer of "Our Gang" comedies, who is considered one of the ablest men in his profession, will be the sole judge of the final selection. He will pick the child he believes most like the one of the "Our Gang" comedies. Surely he is the best judge possible, as he has viewed these clever "Our Gang" children from every possible angle. Get busy, boys and girls! Get busy, parents!

THEY CAN ID PEACE

Minneapolis, July 5 (AP)—Another day of peace in the city of the lakes. Teaching professor has a great opportunity to lead in promoting better understanding of the nations. Dr. A. O. Thomas of Augsburg, Minn., president of the National Federation of Education Associations, told the National Education Association today.

Co-operation must be established throughout the world and of any program adopted, education must be the supporting columns of the edifice, said Dr. Thomas, who is Maine commissioner of education. Proper instruction may lead to elimination of national jealousy, racial animosity and religious intolerance and result in cooperation instead of conflict, he asserted.

12 ARRESTED IN LOUVAIN FOR "GERMAN HATE" CRIES

Louvain, Belgium, July 5 (AP)—Police arrested a dozen prominent members of the National Youth Association for shouting "Down with the Boches" during the dedication of the Louvain library. An aviator who dropped leaflets and his companion were arrested at Louvain. The situation of several student demonstrators from the university was announced today.

BOSTON COUPLE HOME FROM HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett Farrell of Boston have returned from their honeymoon spent at Narragansett Pier. The couple were married in Providence by Rev. A. Mason Brown of the First Presbyterian Church of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrell will spend the remainder of the summer at the Narragansett Pier, and will move into their new home at Chestnut Hill in the fall.

ECKENER'S NEW ZEPPELIN TO FLY 3 TIMES TO U. S.

Berlin, July 5 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener announced at the Independence Day dinner of the American Club that the new Zeppelin he is building would make three trips back and forth across the Atlantic, starting in August.

This would be done, he said, to demonstrate that it doesn't take heroes, but just ordinary mortals to fly across the ocean safely. He suggested that the Driftless Low Angeles accompany the Zeppelin.

Horse Bites Boy

After being bitten by a horse, 13-year-old George Reed, of West Newton st., South End, was taken to City Hospital by Traffic officer Cole of Division 3. The boy was suffering from a wound on the hand which required a trip to the hospital.

Goodwin Urges More Care on Highways

By FRANK A. GOODWIN

Highway Safety Editor Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts

The fatal motor accident record for last week was remarkable in three particulars.

FIRST—There was no one killed in Boston during the week. While this same record was made two weeks in succession during the month of May, when the Motor Vehicle Safety Drive was in progress, nevertheless, it is a record for a week to pass without a fatal accident in a city the size of Boston.

It shows that the police are active and doing aggressive work, that operators are driving more slowly and last, but not least, the pedestrians, Frank A. Goodwin and particularly the children, are exercising greater care.

SECOND—Of the 14 persons killed throughout the State last week, only four were pedestrians, while 10 were occupants either of automobiles or motorcycles. This is an entirely different story from the usual one. Statistics for years have shown that about two-thirds of all fatal motor accidents had pedestrians as victims. To have this condition reversed is indeed remarkable.

It shows that operators are more careful in congested areas and pedestrians are becoming more proficient in the art of dodging and jamming. It also shows that operators, while exercising greater caution in congested sections, are still inclined to be reckless in the open country.

THIRD—It is the usual thing to have the greater number of fatal ties in cities and towns. The past week shows eight killed in towns and only six persons killed in all the cities of the State.

The explanation for this is doubtless the same as given above—more restraint of operators in cities and more recklessness on the State highways.

It is very noticeable to those who do much riding that reckless driving is on the increase where there is no police restraint. The authorities apparently realize this, because during the past week 23 licenses were suspended for improper operating and 45 were revoked because of operators for operating so that the lives and safety of the public might be in danger.

The hit-and-run drivers are even more prevalent than ever before and this condition will continue to get worse unless the courts are more severe in their punishment for this contemptible offense.

There is a law on our statute books requiring that the judge give a full sentence to a convicted driver of running away after killing or injuring a person, but that is a dead letter law. Some of the courts are beginning to get loose again in passing out sentences for motor vehicle offenses.

It was become necessary at the next session of the Legislature to take away from the courts all discretion to place on file or probation persons convicted in hit-and-run cases, just as it was taken away in second offense drunken driver cases.

There is only one hope, if we are to expect safety on our highways, and that is STRICT, UNPAID, LAW ENFORCEMENT AND PUBLIC OPINION IS THE ONLY FORCE THROUGH WHICH WE CAN GET IT.

LANDSLIDES ADD TO FLOOD PERIL CLEAR ARRIGO IN AUTO DEATH

Pittsburgh, July 5 (AP)—Heavy rains that reached cloudburst proportions in some districts late yesterday and early today measured 1.86 inches, the weather bureau reported. Widespread damage resulted from floods, landslides and lightning. The storms occurred intermittently over a period of 18 hours.

Landslides near McKeesport and floods between here and McKeesport caused heavy damage. Automobiles at a pleasure resort near McKeesport were carried from a parking place into small valley when a section of a hillside slid upon them.

Floods along the Pittsburgh-McKeesport boulevard drove some of the families to upper floors of their homes. Several families were removed from their houses in another district near here when high waters from a small stream threatened them. Lightning struck two houses.

"FRIEND TO GIRLS" WEEK OPENS TODAY

The annual "Friend to Girls" week of the Children's Aid Association of 41 Mount Vernon st. opened today.

The organization is asking contributions of $1 which curricula the girls as a "friend to girls." The organization has been in existence since 1899 and helps girls who cannot remain in their own homes by placing them with foster families.

It also helps girls earn their way through high school and arranges special courses in place of, or in addition to, high school education.

LOADS HOLIDAY GUN WITH "NITRO"; 1 DEAD, 1 HURT

Tenafly, N. J., July 5 (INS)—In an effort to stage a Fourth of July celebration, that would outshine those of his friends, Charles Warren, Jr., placed a quantity of nitroglycerine in a home-made "cannon" made from a piece of iron pipe. Today he is dead and his companion, Edward Phillips, 16, has a hole in his leg and is suffering from burns sustained in the explosion.

STATE BOARD IN NEW BEDFORD
STRIKE PARLEY

New Bedford, July 3 (AP)—Members of the board of conciliation and arbitration of the state department of labor and industries, Chairman Edmund Fisher, Lowell, representing the mill, and Robert P. Wagoner, representing employers, and Samuel R. Ross, New Bedford, representing employees, met here this afternoon in joint conference with representatives of the New Bedford Textile Association and the New Bedford Textile Union to discuss the textile strike situation.

Employees named by the textile union unless announced by the union, as being present at the session, included delegates but including those they would get no factor in the strike.

Employees will not be admitted, said members of the committee, but those who are going to present themselves.

Those who are secretary of the Mill Textile Union, will act as a representative of the board, and another member of the committee will represent the local.

a thing," she sobbed, when police investigators interviewed her. "I thought he was bluffing. I would have done anything to prevent what happened."

Justifiable homicide was the verdict of the police after hearing the stories of the Kirtredges and their chauffeur, Alvin Corbin. Desrochers attacked Mrs. Kirtledge as she reached the porch of her home.

Kirtledge and Corbin rushed to her aid after 15 yards had been covered. Overcoming the fleeing man, they pounced on him. Corbin was rendered unconscious from a kick in the stomach. Kirtledge rebuked his efforts, beating the youth with both hands. Desrochers was dead when the police arrived.

Six Dead in Storm
Berlin, July 3 (AP)—Six persons were killed, 39 were badly injured and hundreds were less seriously hurt in a storm which swept over central and east-central Germany, causing heavy property damage.

HARRY BETH
RECORD 31 N
NEW ENGLAND

Thirty-one were dead today in New England, and 285 throughout the nation, the result of four days of July downpours, firestorms, and lightning crashes, storm and lightning.

As yet the property damage caused by the storm that lashed Greater Boston in the late afternoon has not been estimated, but lightning wrecked trees and started fires and the driving rain and resultant flood unroofed gardens and flooded out homes.

As an aftermath of the storm, a number of interesting narrowly escaped injuries in Boston today when two telegraph poles, lashed by the heavy rains and wind, toppled over in Salem, carrying down trolley wires and halting traffic for an hour.

The greatest number of fatalities were by drowning. Then came automobiles, boats, firework, airplanes and lightning. In the order of their toll:

BUB BEACHES
Fred F. Currie, his wife and daughter, Dorothy, 20, of Gloucester, drowned when their boat was capsized off Gloucester in the storm.

South End, drowned in Port Point channel.

Helen Lucas, 16, of Spencer ave., Chelsea, in Nutting pond, Ellersie.

James Hilley, 11, of Kim st., Cambridge, drowned in attempting to rescue Lucas girl.

Harry O'Hare, 25, New York actor, in Concord river at Lowell.

Patrick O'Leary, 30, of Water st., Milford, in North pond.

James Carter, 25, of Mulberry, N. H., in pond at University of New Hampshire.

Robert A. McDonald, 8, of Hampshire st., Cambridge, in Pentucket pond, Georgetown.

Bernard Bernan, 35, of Roxbury, in pond at Northfield.

Mrs. Edith Shurtleff, 28, of Brockton, in lake at Monponset.

Raymond Parker, 33, of Brockton, in lake at Monponset.

John, victim in Greater Boston were:

Louis Greer, 18, of Cambridge, killed in fall from roof of his home when he came in to change his clothes.

Ralph Wood, 8, of Peabody, killed in motorcycle accident.

Morris Kaplan, 34, of Dorchester, killed in motorcycle accident.

John, Dobby of Brockton, killed when thrown from his motorcycle in Hingham.

ALICE CURRIE
Hingham, Conn., escaped a death list in New England as a result of the storm when she was killed by a Connecticut lost two children by falling after death in the storm.

There were drownings and other deaths in this state also. Maine had two fatalities, one by explosion of a home-made canister, one by an automobile overturning.

One drowning occurred in New Hampshire and there were an automobile and a drowning fatality in Rhode Island.

Three of the nation's total automobile deaths came in races, one each in Pennsylvania, Oregon and Wisconsin.

Airplane accidents were at Beaumont, Tex., where one died, and at Joliet, Ill., where the wing snapped off a plane and the pilot and two passengers crashed to death.

The storm that crashed down on Greater Boston while the beaches about the coast held their largest crowds of the day made necessary the rescue of more than half a hundred swimmers, amateur swimmers who were unable to get back to safe haven before the full sweep of the storm arrived.

Wiping out of the Currie family of Dorchester, struck the only local sailing fatality, however.

According to Albert Morris and his sister Margaret of Tremont st., Dorchester, the two survivors of the Currie family, the cabin-crew, was about four miles southeast of Marshfield Rock when the ship disappeared.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Currie were recovered today, both being brought to Boston. That of the daughter is believed to be still in the cabin of the cruiser.

THOUSANDS OF KIDIES
GET FREE ICE CREAM

Thousands of children in the Brighton and Allston districts of Boston received free ice cream from the city of Boston as part of the observance of Independence Day at its distributing points throughout the districts.

The children stormed the South Playground in Allston; Murray Park, Brighton; River Park, Allston; Old Town Hall, Brighton; the Garfield School and the Old Institute fire house, where they all received their free ice cream. Junior sporting events were held at the latter park in which the children participated.

$75,000 JEWELS STOLEN
FROM SALESMAN ON TRAIN

New York, July 3 (AP)—A thief who made $25,000 in a single day's jewelry is being hunted by police of a dozen cities, private detectives and investigators for the Pullman Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Jewelers Protective Association. Isaac Greenberg, a salesman employed by New York and Pittsburgh jewelry manufacturer, boarded a Pennsylvania train in Pittsburgh, bound for New York. He placed the jewelry in his sample case under his berth. When he awoke in North Philadelphia he reported the case had been stolen.

LINDBERGH SPENDS HOLIDAY IN FLIGHTS

Glenn Cove, N. Y., July 3 (AP)—Where does an aviator spend a holiday? In the air, of course. Charles A. Lindbergh, who is selling Assistant Secretary of War P. C. Davies, Dayton, Ohio, will spend his flight in a private airplane—alone and alone with his house guests.

PRINCE LEWISTEIN JUMPED INTO SEA FROM PLANE

GRIL SAYS WORRIED ABOUT RICH FLYER ABSENT

to think that the theory of accident is that he opened the wrong door of the plane in going to the washroom was impractical.

The police said that the crew did not get Capt. Lewinstein's disappearance.

"We are all horrified over the tragic accident," said Mr. A. B. Dalton, one of his private secretaries. "When Mr. Lewinstein came aboard the plane he seemed in good health although he looked tired. I do not know how long he was in the washroom. He made no remark, and I thought nothing of his absence. When he failed to return in 15 minutes I became worried."

"There was only one door leading out of the plane and naturally none of us thought it possible he could have made a mistake."

"But he was very much alarmed when he had big problems on him. He was often abstracted."

"Soon we discovered he was not in the washroom. Then we signaled the pilot, who landed at the Slings' level field."

Brussels, July 5.—It was thought today that Capt. Alfred Lewinstein, reported to be the richest man in Europe, was the victim of a tragic mistake, when he jumped from his plane to his death.

Officials of his bank here said today by one of the two girls secretary who was on the plane.

Lewinstein apparently mistook the plane for the entrance to the washroom and plunged into space. The two doors are close together.

It was possible that Lewinstein was a possible suicide.

It was stated that the captain was not alone at the head of his numerous affairs, whose direction and responsibility was shared by several prominent financiers, including the J. Henry Schroeder Banking Corporation of New York.

From the financial viewpoint, it was reported that Lewinstein's affairs will proceed as usual.

Travelling as he always did with a retinue, Capt. Lewinstein, hopped off from Croydon, Airplane in one of his planes, a Fokker, for Brussels with a British pilot at the controls. Two girl stenographers were aboard so that he could continue his business while in flight.

When the plane was crossing over the North sea, Capt. Lewinstein left his seat among his companions and started for the washroom in the rear. He never returned and, as he really he opened a door by which passengers leave the plane and fell into the sea.

Pilot Drew, who was in charge of the plane, said that no one was sure as to the exact spot where the financier fell from the plane.

"Capt. Lewinstein left Croydon in his Fokker airplane at 6:05 last night," Drew said. "When the machine was passing over the North sea, between Jersey and the Belgian coast, I was handed a note by Lewinstein's secretary, M. Hodgson, informing me that Capt. Lewinstein had fallen overboard."

"I immediately landed near St. Margherit where, after informing the customs officials, I telephoned Dunlop to have a search made for the body. This was of little use as when the accident must have taken place, the machine was flying at a height of about 4,000 feet."

RICHEST IN EUROPE.

Alfred Lewinstein's wealth was estimated at only less than that of Henry Ford or the Rockefellers. He controlled steamship lines, was one of the chief shareholders in the Belgian Railway System, owned immense iron mines in Belgium, steel furnaces in the north of Spain, coal properties in the Ruhr and in the Ruhr, and immense rubber plantations in the Congo.

He was born in 1872, his father being a small Jewish banker in Brussels. His immense fortune was built up by clever speculation. It took him 20 years to become the richest man in England. During the war he was engaged in London in stock exchanges with the provision of the British army.

Two years ago he was virtually unknown in the United States, but he achieved the insight almost overnight when he offered to lend the British $50,000,000 free of interest for a period of two years so as to enable the country to stabilize the franc. Shortly after this he offered to lend France a similar amount at interest of only 3 per cent.

PLAYED HUNCHES.

Capt. Lewinstein said he had built up his fortune by sound business "hunches" on industrial trends. As a young man he stated exceptionally on the future importance of artificial silk, hydro-electric power and methods of mass production.

When he visited the United States with his wife last April he travelled in a 16 passenger plane. He brought his personal pilot from abroad to fly the craft. At Philadelphia he was asked to be the richest man in Europe, when he jumped from his plane to his death.

Officials of his bank here said today by one of the two girls secretary who was on the plane.

Lowenstein Death Causes Slump on Stock Exchanges

The death of Capt. Lewenstein, who had big international financial interests, was felt on the stock exchanges in London, Brussels, Berlin and Paris today.

International Holdings were dropped in London at 160 against last night's 215, dropping later to 130.

Hydro-Electric, another Lowenstein stock, were quoted at 25 against their overnight figure of 31.

reacted violently. Shares in which Lowenstein was interested dropped from 20 to 40 per cent, as they did in Berlin and Paris. His death had no effect on the New York market.

He was said to own eight villas in Biarritz alone. He owned an estate in Lacarriere, Spain and a string of houses there. He had a castle in Brussels and a house in London.

To make sure that he had the best construction in sports he kept a retinue of boxing instructors, golf and fencing professionals on his payroll.

Mme. Lowenstein Orders Death Plane Disposed Of

Paris, July 5.—(AP)—Mme. Lowenstein, who arrived here this morning, ordered that the plane from which her husband was lost, return to London.

"Let it be sold," she said. "I do not ever wish to see it again."

The plane left for Croydon at 12:30 p. m. and will be disposed of immediately.

MRS. VILLARD, 83 DIES; DAUGHTER OF GARRISON

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., July 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Fanny Garrison Villard, only daughter of William Lloyd Garrison, the abolitionist, died today. She was 83 years old.

Mrs. Villard was born in Boston and resided with her famous father in his abolition activities, actively helping him with his paper, The Liberator.

She was the mother of Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of The Nation and former publisher of the New York Evening Post.

During the Civil War she met Henry Villard, then a war correspondent with the New York Tribune, who was spending his leave in Boston. He was awarded the Medal of Gallantry in the Union army.

Villard continued his journalism in the Boston Herald and then became secretary of the American Social Science Association, being temporarily resident in Germany.

POWER TRUST IN FIGHT AGAINST BOULDER DAM

By M. L. RAMSEY

Washington, July 5.—How power interests are working in motion to stop President Coolidge's plan for a Boulder dam project was disclosed in documents under investigation by the Federal Trade Commission yesterday.

A signal for an unopposing of the manufactured "public sentiment" was given by the National Electric Light Association as early as 1924, the documents show.

The project was pending in the form of the Johnson bill for a great flood control, irrigation and power development on the Colorado river.

Deposition was requested by the Federal Power Commission as then constituted. Power leaders admitted that the commission's stand filed in the public opinion.

The light association, dominant in the public lobby which fought the similar Swing-Johnson bill in the last session of Congress, sent out an "information letter" to executives of the hundreds of light and power companies in its membership. It read in part:

"As a result of this stand by the power commission, President Coolidge has been given with letters and telegrams from government ownership advocates condemning the stand of the commission, while very few letters have been received by him commending the stand of the commission with respect to government ownership."

Commission attorneys in the investigation of the Boulder dam project found a copy of this letter in the files of John N. Caldwell, secretary of the Western Utilities Association.

Propaganda against the dam project was distributed in Wisconsin as late as February of this year, other records show. Copies of a report prepared by James S. Weyer were sent to the association by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Both Weyer and the Chamber have been named time and again in the propaganda investigation. The Ohio body attempted to line up other State Chambers against the dam.

"Your pamphlet was prepared for the Chamber, for use in this movement," the record shows.

It was circulated also among senators and representatives here. In another letter from Caldwell's files, Horace M. Davis, former head of the Nebraska Cattle Raisers' Association, told of what he described as the employment of a "front man" to shape their fight against the dam.

"Last fall T. A. Brooke was detailed for teaching the State Rail Commission. Our people were particularly interested in his fight and immediately in his defense. They figured they owed him something—true enough."

"He is a judge, a philosopher, methodical, studious, independent, opinionated and naturally executive."

"Our company executives have an unspoken feeling that they owe him some big money to stop the dam. He has been a very big man in the dam fight and will have more time to go and stir up the dam fight."

"Mr. Brooke was the very best to do that for me. When Brooke was offered a good place at Washington and threatened to go our men engaged him in instant, but without thinking just what they would do with him."

How Power Trust Got Free Publicity

IOWA COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC UTILITY INFORMATION

DES MOINES, IOWA

January 2, 1923.

Mr. H. M. Lytle,
Illinois Committee on Public Utility Inf.,
125 South Clark St.,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir:

I was in Illinois the other day and had a long visit with Mr. V. Tafford, Secretary of the Inland Press Association. Tafford did not have the right slant on our proposition, but I don't think that you will receive any of your stuff back from his publishers. If you do, let me know and I will go after him again, but I don't think this will be necessary.

Yours truly,

Joe Carmichael
JOE ID

HERBERT is a letter from Joe Carmichael when he was just getting into his stride as publicity director for the Iowa Committee on Public Utility Information was back in 1923. He writes H. M. Lytle, of the Illinois Committee on Public Utility Information, telling him how he got W. V. Tafford, secretary of the Inland Press Association, straightened out so that he will not in the future let his publishers send, unused, press material supplied by Lytle's utility company clients in Illinois.

Carmichael induced the utility company members of his committee to increase their newspaper advertising 700 per cent from 1922 to 1924, according to documents 1928, submitted to the commission. His committee was organized January 1, 1922, and at the end of twenty months reported:

The letter is an official exhibit in the case now pending before the Federal Trade Commission.

"Articles from the Hawkeye Bulletin have been copied freely by the newspapers, nearly every one of the 450 newspapers of the State having used some of the publicity matter issued by the committee."

"By this means it has been found that during the first 18 months of its activities the newspapers published stories which the committee originated, which if they could have been paid at the regular line rates would have cost the industry about $80,000. Of course, this publicity could not have been bought for this sum or for any amount of money, because it was news publicity, and news space is not for sale."

GIRL FREED FROM RUM-SIPPING CHARGE TO MALDEN'S GIFT TO MALDEN DEDICATED

Denial of acquaintanceship both by herself and her companion resulted today in Miss Amy Friedman, 21, of Devon St., Roxbury, being freed from a rum-sipping charge today in Dedham court.

The girl was arrested yesterday at Roxbury. Chief Justice of the Superior Court, Judge Charles H. Smith of Westchester, testified that 23 saloons of alcohol were found in the car. Both Miss Friedman and Smith asserted in court that he was only giving her "lift" in the car.

Smith was fined $10 for keeping and transporting liquor, $10 for illegal transportation and $10 for not having a license.

Man Found Dead

Ill for the last few days, Mark Perich, 42, of 31 Sherman St., Malden, was found dead in his home by Charles A. Blackford of the same address. Medical authorities declared that death had been super-induced by the heat.

Malden's gift to Malden, England, a memorial window to Laurence Washington, great-grandfather of George Washington, was dedicated today in All Saints Church in the presence of British Consul and American guests.

William H. Winsap, chairman of the Malden committee, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Bliss, were among the delegation which represented the Massachusetts city at the unveiling ceremony in the English church.

Lord Lambourn, lord lieutenant of the county of Essex; the Lord Mayor of Malden, and the Mayor of Malden, Mr. Alton, were present. Also present were the Mayor of Malden, Mr. Alton, and the Mayor of Malden, Mr. Alton.

The 4th in Hyde Park. The Hyde Park celebration of the Fourth was featured in the district by three band concerts and three ball games in the afternoon. Misses free distribution of ice cream to the children.

"WEALTHIEST BRITON" DIES IN ST. ALBANS

St. Albans, Eng., July 5.—Sir David Tule, reported to be the wealthiest Briton, died yesterday being worth $10,000,000 pounds ($15,000,000).

Although he was the head of a great Indian mercantile firm and the director of several banks, he was scarcely known to the public. He lived a simple life in comparative obscurity, spending most of his time in India, where he lived in comfort.

SHIP SCHOOLHOUSE TO POINT BARROW, ALASKA

Washington, July 3.—An entire schoolhouse and complete equipment will be carried aboard the U. S. S. Baker this week for use at Point Barrow, Alaska, the furthest point of the North American mainland. The departure of the ship is announced.

The schoolhouse will replace a building destroyed by fire last January.

Shining with Priscilla Price

Dear Anna:
How very nice it was that you could go away this deep blue water for your holiday. I confess I was a little disappointed that that we couldn't have our usual shopping day together on Monday. But we will make up for it today indeed, for the after-holiday sales will be available.

I am glad to know that beginning next week we will shop on Monday as we always do. Hope that you will be able to wait for us on Monday and missed us at the shops. Or did you think to let them all know?

As I told you before
Ruth Was At A Loss

Beach Weather
means wonderful weekends, but it ruins complexion unless you know the modern prevention. Dr. Post's Absorption Beauty Cream is the answer.

Of course, Applied before bathing, it absorbs all of the fever which results from a sun-burn in such a way that your complexion is actually improved. In addition, it removes blackheads, fills up wrinkles in your face and neck, and makes you look years younger.

SIX INJURED WHEN DRIVER FALLS ASLEEP
Witnessing various collisions caused William H. Campbell of 373 Main St., Malden, to be cut so late that he fell asleep at the wheel of his automobile while on the way home with his wife and four guests, and all six went to the Chateau Hotel where the car had run off the road and overturned on its side on South Main St., Reading.

The police report of the accident and the Commonwealth's version is detailed in the crash. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell were driving each other. Mrs. Campbell was injured. Mr. Campbell was injured. Mrs. Campbell was injured. Mr. Campbell was injured.

VOLUNTARILY ADMITS SLAYING OF PAYMASTER
Ossining, N. Y., July 5.—The confession of George Appert, condemned to death for the murder of a police man, that he killed John Davidson, New York paymaster, may save Davidson from execution.

Although authorities expressed surprise at Appert's voluntary confession, it was believed that Davidson was not a police man, but a paymaster. Appert was not a police man, but a paymaster. Appert was not a police man, but a paymaster.

Appert carried large sums of money and he lay in wait for him. Appert carried large sums of money and he lay in wait for him. Appert carried large sums of money and he lay in wait for him.

An Inexperienced Surgeon
would have no place in your life, would he, dear? So many of our friends allow amateur beauticians to give them permanents and have their hair ruined in the process. They do not realize that even as they need the best sort of a doctor they also need an expert to work on their hair such as Mr. Green of the Amory Bob Shop, 43 Temple Place, Blake Bldg.

First Owner of Auto of Merrimac Drops Dead at Wheel

Lawrence, July 5.—Jonathan Bagley, 33, of Fairfield ave., Merrimac, first automobile owner in that town, dropped dead at the wheel today while taking a road test for license to drive his new gear-shift car.

For years, Bagley has driven machines with the planetary type of transmission, but recently he purchased a machine of the sliding gear type, which necessitated his taking a new test. He collapsed while driving alone in his driveway.

James J. Moore, Jr., the accompanying inspector, saved him from falling to the street. Meanwhile the driveway car crashed into a telephone pole.

ITALIAN FLIERS ARE NEARING BRAZIL

Rio de Janeiro, July 5 (AP)—Landing steadily westward at nearly 100 miles an hour, the Italian monoplane of Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Maj. Carlo Del Prete, which took off from Rome on Tuesday at 7:51 p. m., was nearing this city today.

Preparations are under way for a luncheon reception when they arrive here. They are due this evening, barring bad weather or mechanical trouble.

It was first reported that the fliers would land at Natal or Pernambuco (Recife) to refuel, but a later radiogram from the plane said they would try to make Rio de Janeiro without a stop if their gasoline held out.

A fleet of 10 Brazilian army and navy planes will go out to escort the Italian plane to Camp Do Afonso, the military air field 10 miles from the city.

At sunset powerful beams will be lighted to guide the aviators to the field.

A telegram from Pernambuco at 5:20 o'clock said the Glinda radio station had picked up a radiogram from the Italian plane. Copy at 7:10 (local time) saying it had been in wireless communication with the fliers. The position of the Italian plane was placed "north of Pernambuco," Ferrarin reported himself and his companion "all right."

The Italian embassy announced that the fliers would not accept an invitation to fly to Argentina, as Brazil is the "Axis" end of the flight and a landing here will break the long distance, continuous flight record of Clarence J. Chamberlin of Clarence J. Chamberlin of Clarence J. Chamberlin.

Rome, July 5 (AP)—Although still uncertain as to what happened to the six men aboard the plane long of the dirigible Italia when it tore loose from the main gondola on May 23, Gen. Umberto Nobile still has hopes that they may be alive.

In a new official report, Nobile said that the dirigible was made over a region 15 to 18 miles from the point at which the gondola came down off Northern Land. He says that if the skeleton structure of the dirigible is not found at that distance, it is highly probable the bag would smash the distance mark now held by Chamberlin and Levine.

Rome to Brazil

While checking the gasoline, oil supply and general condition of Ferrarin's police automobile today, Ferrarin James J. Dugan, house officer, was surprised to find a shiny sedan blocking the exit for the wagon.

"I suppose one of the boys has stepped out and bought a new one. But he can't leave it here," declared the house officer.

His inquiries led to nothing. Finally the registration revealed the owner to be James H. Sparks of No. 19 Oxford st., Boston.

BOY KILLED AS AERIAL BOMB EXPLODES IN HAND

Eight-year-old Ralph Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood of 4 Liberty st., Peabody, died on the operating table in the J. B. Thomas Hospital, victim of a bomb of July fireworks.

The boy took an aerial bomb from his home, unknown to his parents. He went out doors and lit it. The bomb blew out his left eye, caused a fracture of the skull and burst about the boy's face and head.

He was taken to the hospital and Dr. J. W. P. Murphy of Peabody and Dr. Philip R. Dwyer of Salem were about to operate when death came.

Speed of Sun and Stars Measured by Expert

New York, July 5.—Dr. Walter S. Adams, world-famous director of the Lick Observatory, California, who lately received the 1928 Bruce medal from the Astronomical Society of the Pacific, after to the world some of his summary of astronomical advance in the last twenty years in a remarkable treatise just made public here by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Methods of analyzing spectra and the fact that spectral lines are shown by instruments are displayed by small amounts when the sources of light and the observer are approaching or receding from one another, have led to one of the most fruitful fields of investigation in all astronomy, the authority says. Then he adds:

"The results derived enable us to find at what rate our sun is moving in space, how the motions of the stars in our system are related, and how even the enormous distant universes of stars, the spiral nebulae, are moving with respect to us and to one another."

It has been definitely established that sun spots have lower temperatures than the remainder of the sun. Dr. Adams shows, and this gives a new method of attack upon the physical problems of the sun and stars, a "partial breach in the hitherto almost impenetrable wall surrounding the interpretation of the spectrum."

STERILIZATION IS REAL HEALTH NEED

POORLY WASHED DISHS DEVELOP BACTERIA

Dr. P. H. Mullowney

Director Heart Health Laboratory

Sterilization of dishes, knives, forks and spoons was an urgent requirement by the army medical staff to combat the spread of influenza and other contagious diseases during the progress of the World War.

The local regulations of the health department today require that all dishes, knives, forks and spoons be sterilized before being served again to customers.

The director of the Heart Health Laboratory is of the opinion that the use of sterilized dishes, knives, forks and spoons in private households should be eliminated by taking from this same book of sterilization.

The real advantage from temporary rods and slight derangement.

Stabbed in Head

Dr. J. SHEEHAN

Police doubt the story told by the South Boston man from whose skull a stiletto blade was removed at City Hospital. Sheehan, who lives at 19 Telegraph st., said he had been in an auto crash near Braves Field and that he had been thrown through the windshield. He failed, however, to explain the presence of the stiletto blade.

375 KILLED IN CHICAGO GANG AND RUM WAR

Chicago, July 5 (AP)—Beer, butlers, politicians and police applied the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice with material for the fifth and sixth chapters of "Organized Crime," the report of an investigation into Chicago's crime. The fifth chapter made public today dealt with the city's "beer war," which has occupied considerable attention since early in 1922, when gangsters were lured into rum activities, by promises of enormous profits. Into bootlegging and beer running.

Since then, the report states, the gangster active in bootlegging has formed strong organizations. "The report" resulted in 215 gang murders in less than four years, he said. Washington, D. C., police and bootleggers by the police. POLITICS BLAMED.

The report, after enumerating the outstanding features of Chicago's "beer war," declared the investigation did not believe prohibition could be blamed entirely for the condition. Since other cities have not experienced similar gang activities under prohibition, the basic cause must be local, the report suggested. For instance of politics and gangdom was blamed principally for the "Pineapple" better known as bombs, have been in use many years, the sixth chapter declared, although only in recent years has the bomb widened the scope of its activity. Twenty years ago bombs were used by vice lords to discourage competition, the report says.

SOME HARD TO SOLVE

With the coming of prohibition, bombs were found to be useful for the same purpose. Black hand activity, international conflicts, labor controversies, and "rackets" also have found the "pineapple" an ideal weapon of attack because of the secrecy with which it can be planted.

Blackhand bombings, the investigation showed, are especially hard to solve because the victims seldom will talk to police and because the perpetrators often have strong political connections.

STEEL MADE SKULL POINTS TO STABBING

Daniel J. Sheehan of South Boston is in critical condition at Boston City Hospital, following a mysterious stabbing affray. Should he recover, physicians say, he will be blind for life.

Four inches of a broken steel blade were removed from his skull while police were trying to learn the identity of his assailant.

The police believe that Sheehan was stabbed in the left temple with a stiletto by some one known to him.

Sheehan before the operation said that he was cut in the head by broken glass in an auto accident. He has been unconscious since the operation.

A steel blade about four inches in length and apparently broken off from a stiletto was removed in an operation upon Sheehan's skull by Dr. Paul Dukakis, night superintendent of the Boston City Hospital.

The steel blade is believed to have been imbedded in Sheehan's skull for about six hours before he was removed to a doctor. Physicians said that there was no hope for him to live unless the blade was removed by such an operation as Dr. Dukakis performed.

When the blade was drawn out, the optic nerve, upon which the blade was resting, was severed, so that Sheehan will be blind if he lives.

There is a constant police guard at Sheehan's bedside because of the hope that Sheehan may reveal how he suffered his injury.

The four-inch blade was broken off having penetrated about 4 1/2 inches into Sheehan's skull between the left ear and left ear. Dr. Dukakis said that the blade narrowly missed striking the brain.

MOTHER OF 3 KILLED BY AUTO BLAST IN GARAGE

Franklin, Pa., July 5 (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Beers Sullivan, 25, mother of three children, was instantly killed when an explosion of unknown cause wrecked the family auto in which she was sitting in the garage.

Fire followed the explosion. Frank Sullivan, husband of the victim, is under care of physicians. He suffered shock when he returned to the garage on hearing the explosion, and found the charred remains of his wife.

GIRL, 7, BITTEN SEVERAL TIMES BY SETTER DOG

Seven-year-old Margaret McCune of Lorain st., Dorchester, was attacked by a setter dog today near her home and severely bitten several times on the right arm and face. She was removed to City Hospital. Dr. A. P. Dore of the health department was asked by "he police" to examine the dog.

KLUKERS AT BIG RALLY ARE ARMED

New York, July 5 (AP)—Guarded by klansmen armed with pistols, clubs and sabres, 2000 persons attended a Ku Klux Klan rally in a square field on Long Island, but the guests of honor, Senator J. Thomas Jeffin, failed to appear.

It was reported that the Senator was speaking at a Klan rally in Mason, Mich., and that he did not get to attend the Long Island meeting. The klansmen, who had spent the day in various ceremonies, then gathered.

Senator Jeffin, at Jackson said that he had received an invitation to attend the Jamaica rally while speaking at Albany, N. Y., but had declined because of the previous promise to the Michigan folks.

Some 200 police and an emergency wagon loaded with riot guns and tear gas bombs were stationed about the field all day to guard the klansmen against possible attack, but their services were not needed to the rally.

The policemen were not permitted on the field. "I am sure that new men who had rented it for the day."

Does Lilly Finally Marry Town's Richest Man?

LILLY LEXINGTON is the spoiled only child of the CYRUS LEXINGTONS of the Back Bay. Lilly has been reared to be thoroughly useless, and her highest ambition is realized when she becomes engaged to STANLEY DRUMMOND, a wealthy bachelor much older than herself.

Lilly starts out to ask SUE CAIN to be her maid-of-honor. Lilly sees a handsome, blue-eyed man looking at her. She feels herself oddly attracted toward him before she notices that he is wearing a driver's uniform and standing beside a taxicab. She starts away from him, then turns, and goes slowly back to him. She gets in the cab and tells him to drive her home. As Lilly gets out of the cab she takes the card with his name, "Pat France," and his photograph upon it. That night, when Stanley and she are sitting before the fire, her mother says that a taxidriver is waiting to see her.

CHAPTER III.
LILLY'S big eyes grew bigger still with amazement.

"A taxi-driver to see me?" she said quickly. "A taxi-driver?"

She knew, of course, that it must be Pat France. But why on earth had he come here to her father's house? What did he want to see her for?—insisting upon seeing her, too?

"The check of 100," she said to herself, and then another thought came tumbling into her mind. . . . He had come for that card which she had taken from his cab that afternoon! The card with his name and picture on it—the card that was lying on the bottom of her handbag upstairs this very minute!

With a nervous little laugh she sat up from the flowered-chintz sitting, and he got up, too. He looked at her with a twinkle of amusement in his eyes.

"What have you done? Forgotten to pay a cab fare, Lilly?" he asked good-naturedly.

And then Lilly did a foolish and serious thing. She said the first thing that came to her mind. It was a white lie. A lie that was going to breed a great deal of trouble before it was forgotten.

"Yes," she said, almost without thinking. If she thought about it at all, it simply seemed the easiest thing to say—the easiest explanation of this unexpected visit from a taxicab driver out of the room and into the hall.

Just inside the door stood Pat France. He had his cap in his hand and was looking under the artificial light, his blue eyes looked even bluer than they had in the afternoon.

Lilly was struck by his exceeding good looks again as she walked straight up to him and said "What do you want?" in the cooest tones imaginable.

"My identification card," he told her quietly. "You took it out of my bag this afternoon, and I'd like it." His eyes averted from her face as he spoke, and turning, Lilly saw that Stanley had come up behind her and was standing at her elbow, with his hands in his pockets and his lips pursed up under his little mustache.

"Please let me take care of this, Stanley," she begged him, wondering if he had heard what Pat France had said. "Please do go back into the other room with Mother. This is my affair—really."

But Stanley was stubborn. All his life he had got the things that he wanted by sticking to his point and refusing to budge. He refused to budge now.

He looked at the blue-eyed cab driver who looked him by a good three inches, and was exceptionally good-looking to boot. Then he looked at the girl who had pretended to marry him just the night before. She had gone as white as the pink roses he had brought her that afternoon, and he—himself—glared suspiciously at a girl who had been to this situation then just an unpaid taxi bill, as Stanley saw it.

"How much do you think this fellow Lilly?" he asked.

For a second Lilly hesitated, not knowing what to say and not knowing what she was to do. The second she was lost. For Pat France answered the question.

"She doesn't owe me a five-cent piece," he said. "I'm asking her for a piece of mine. She stole it from me this afternoon and I thought she might have picked it up."

"Did you?" Stanley asked, and Lilly shook her vivid head. She looked innocent as a baby, as she stood there with the electric light shining in her wide-open eyes.

"No, I didn't, Stanley," she fibbed again, having herself to do and not knowing what else to do.

"There isn't anything else to do," she thought miserably.

And then Stanley's gaze on her face, and it came to her in a flash that he knew she was lying. But she braved the thing out. She kept shaking her head slowly.

"What would I want with a taxi man's identification card?" she asked. "I can't understand why he thinks I have it. That's the Pat France from Page 11, Column 1.

THOSE WERE HAPPY DAYS

ICE OVER NIAGARA'S ENOUGH

BAR STAIRS HAPPY IN VICTORY

Buffalo, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Jean Albert Lussier, 34, of Springfield, Mass., who realized an ambition of twenty years when he went over Niagara Falls in a rubber ball, was happy today in having his theory vindicated.

Except for bruises, Lussier was uninjured. He is one of a few men and women who have dared its mighty cataract and come out alive. Lussier said he was inspired to attempt the feat when a boy he saw Bobby Leach go over the falls in a steel barrel. He conceived the idea of a rubber ball covered with a light superstructure of steel.

COMES OUT SWIMMING
The occupant of the 10-pound fabric was towed out into the upper river by motorboat. Bailing also done the announced plan of being dropped from an airplane. The ball rolled and bounced through the rapids over the Horseshoe falls. A weight had been placed at Lussier's feet to keep the occupant upright, but it became dislodged and Lussier went over the brink like a first.

A short time later the ball was reclaimed a short distance below the precipice, was ripped open and the Springfield man hauled out smiling while a hundred thousand or more people cheered.

"I have spent more than a year and $1,000 on my venture," Lussier said today. "I gave my money and I am happy. I have demonstrated that my theory was correct. I could do it again. I am sure, I am sure."

NO ODD SENSATION
"As the ball was carried down stream it was bumped about a bit. Just before I plunged over the falls I jumped an extra gear. I gave my money and I am happy. I have demonstrated that my theory was correct. I could do it again. I am sure, I am sure."

"I had really no sensation when I went over the falls. When I landed on the water at the bottom I was scared. The ball struck the water and I was down for three minutes just like I had been bounced on the sidewalk. I went over the falls head first, but struck and piloted myself."

Lussier, of Everett, Mass., was born at Concord, N. H., in 1893.

If a young man leaves California to "see America first" with 50 cents in his pocket and travels more than five weeks, how much money will he have when he reaches Greater Boston?

The answer is ten cents.

At least that was the answer arrived at by actual experience by Richard Mytton, 21, of Los Angeles who is now reading comfortably the home of his sister, Mrs. Hattie Harty of Camden 24, Auburndale.

Young Mytton left the home of his parents on May 24 without anything but a nickel in his pocket. He had not seen his sister for seven years and being out of employment, thought he would try a cross-country trip to see the country and visit his relatives.

Most of the journey from Los Angeles to Detroit was made on freight trains and the remaining "hounding" automobile ride. He worked in Detroit for three weeks which explains why he had a rich man when he arrived in Auburn date than when he left California. One of the most interesting experiences was walking across 11 miles of desert from Barstow to Bakers, Cal., in five hours.

TWO GLOBE GIRDERS IN PARIS

Cherbourg, France, July 5 (INS).—John Henry Meers and Capt. Collyer, who set out from New York to make a round-the-world trip by steamer and airplane within 23 days, arrived on the liner Olympic at 11:30 a. m. today.

Their plane was immediately taken to the Quersville field where they hopped off for Paris at 2 p. m.

The round-the-worlders were accompanied by their mascot—a white ferret named "Tallwind."

"So long as Tallwind is with us I know we will make everything on schedule time," said Meers. "We are carrying a letter from Mayor Walker of New York to the prefect of the Seine department in Paris."

"After a brief stay in Paris we will leave for Berlin and Warsaw."

CROWD COURT AT JULY 4 TRIAL HEARING

West Brookfield, July 5.—Crowds stormed the district courtroom today to hear the arraignment of the four youths arrested in connection with the riot which marked the town's Independence Day celebration.

Hundreds who were unable to obtain admission watched the proceedings through screened windows. More than 100 automobiles brought prominent society people.

Those arraigned on charges of interference with state troopers during the riot were Herbert Egan, 21, of Springfield; C. Leckard Almy, 21, and Paul Hagen, 21, all members of the local society circle. They pleaded not guilty and Judge Arthur P. Butterworth continued the hearing to Thursday.

The riot broke out when State Trooper Edmund C. Downey is alleged to have struck 15-year-old Harold Richards across the face. A firecracker exploded behind the officer.

Bolan, a former college athlete, took the boy's part and had a battle royal with Officer Downey. Almost immediately he was fought two other men, who went to Downey's assistance, and then Hagen joined in the fight.

The males then became general ravers from the Brookfield barracks were rushed to the scene where the tide of battle turned against the rioters.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER NEAR DEATH IN CRASH

Dragged 100 feet when his motorcycle skidded and turned over on the wet pavement in King St., Cambridge, Patrolman Joseph Daboe of the Suffolk police department sustained a compound fracture of the face and body. He was taken to the Coakham hospital in the police ambulance. His name is on the danger list. He is married and the father of one child.

"I loathe this office," she will

If you attempted to remonstrate

As a matter of fact, it does not pay to be a married man in a hurry.

THANK you are right that I kept each and every one of you for the idea for reference which was something about that I am not sure about.

1-Jay I ask you to make an argument between A and B how to draw for the first time when the invitation reads "see formal?" A wore a dark suit and a jacket, B wore a dark suit and a jacket. Tuxedo collar and tie. B was laughing at A and was dressed properly. I myself this A showed very good taste in in dress. Will you be kind enough to tell a who was right is it my little-dread correct?

THANK you for this tribute—I am proud!

2—"See formal?" I would just mean that the gentleman would be expected to wear a tuxedo suit, dark jacket, "formal" would have meant "tail-coats," and "informal" would have meant "dark suit." I would the dark suit that your friend wore "informal" would be still suitable between the two, Tuxedo suits.

2-N. There should be no more hesitations in the future.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By JOHN P. MEDBURY
NOWADAYS a girl's complexion doesn't always taste as good as it looks.

Justifiable Homicide
When a girl goes into a department store and asks the clerk for a pair of the Arabian nights.

HAD LARGE RED PIMPLES
On Face. Could Hardly Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"Large, red pimples appeared on my face. They itched so much that I could not keep my hands away from my face either night or day. I could hardly sleep on account of the irritation. I could not keep from scratching them, which made them worse. I was that way about four months and suffered a great deal."

I need an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Herbert Marsh, 242 State St., New Bedford, Mass.

Use Cuticura to heal skin troubles.

MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND
MOST of these brilliant new theories about free love and early marriage, which the younger generation have "discovered," were in vogue among the savages long before the dawn of "self-expression."

A financial genius is usually a man who spends three-quarters of his life doing things that he doesn't want to do, in order that he may some day have the money to do the things he will be too tired to do.

A long engagement is an awful strain on the affections. Many a girl has spent years waiting for a man to "get his start," only to find that when he got it, it started him in another woman's direction.

It isn't the initial lie he tells a woman that costs a man so much effort—it's the upkeep.

SONG OF A HOUSE OWNER
There never was a tyrant
Like that little house of mine!
It's always WANTING something;
It's always WANTING something;
Now a crimson rubber shoe—
Now a load of loam or top-soil—
Now a mowing for the front—
And now another coat of paint
And now a new front door.

No mistress ever drove a man
So hard—yes, I opine.
No man ever loved a woman
As I love that house of mine!

For when I'm city-wary
And any thoughts begin to just.

And all the little corners
Of my soul seem filled with dust.
My house throws open wide its arms.
And takes me to its breast!
And there, amid the roses,
I find solace—and REST!

A good substantial gift frame will outwear two or three modern marriage certificates.

The girl who is saving her kisses for the man who will offer her a life-long love, tomorrow, is probably "taking the bait."

SQUELCHING PESTS

By LUCY LOWELL

CONSIDERING the matter of these troublesome folks—the thoughtless or indifferent or selfish ones who steal the time and energy and good nature of the worker by their lack of respect for working hours—I happened upon a paragraph by Langens Norvell which tells the whole story:

"Oh, if they would only let you work! Wouldn't it be fine, just to be able to work? Do you know the real thing that puts people in their little hospital suits with nervous prostration is not working, but trying to work and not being allowed to."

"Work never hurt anybody. But this thing of being in the middle of a letter and then rising to shake hands with a man who knew you when you were a boy, and then sitting down and trying to catch the thread of that letter again—That's what gives one general fatigue."

Mr. Norvell, you can see at a glance, is one of those who has suffered from SOCIABILITY IN WORKING HOURS.

Kindly bear in mind the strain of trying to be polite with one eye on the clock and the other on what he ought to be doing but couldn't because someone insisted on stopping "for just another minute—not long enough to bother, but one would be so polite, you know."

Have you ever felt as this writer describes himself as feeling, that only in a hospital can you find rest from the work you cannot do because privacy-crashers won't let you do it?

Write Lucy Lowell your experiences; otherwise you will hear how you solved this problem.

What many people call Indigestion is very often meant excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sour. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acid instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear. You will never see cramps method when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It is recommended by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acid, 25c and 50c.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1878.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediate.
3. After every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
4. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defense.
5. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish slavery among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
6. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and the installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

A Big Problem

Health Service in Rural Communities; the Country Has Rewards for a Doctor That the City Cannot Give Rural America faces not only a farm problem but also a health problem. Twenty-two years ago the number of doctors in communities of less than 1000 population was 33,000. By 1924 it had shrunk to 27,000. It is now estimated at 23,000.

A large proportion of the men in active rural practice are old men. Young men to whom this profession is alluring have gone to or remained in the cities.

It is not, however, true that the city always or usually rewards the good doctor more generously than the country. Many practitioners of medicine in large cities and the year no better off from a financial standpoint than does the doctor of equal ability who has established himself intelligently in a rural or village general practice. Their gross earnings may be more but their expenses also are more and they lack certain offsets.

One of these is the intimate neighborliness which comes to the small town doctor. This is a human value which some may not care for but to the normal person it is much worth while.

A "living wage" is, of course, necessary in any field. But when the necessities are met, few comforts excel in satisfaction the consciousness of useful work well done. The doctor in the country may have this as richly as his colleague in the city.

The motorcar makes central rural hospitals possible. The school affords a center in which knowledge of hygiene can be cleared. Rural nursing can be organized on a stable basis. A combination of public pay for part-time public work and of private fees can solve the problem of the doctor's income.

A live young man moderately trained should, therefore, be able with a showing of leadership to establish himself in any but the poorest rural community in a career offering quite as much usefulness and probably as substantial compensation, tangible and intangible, as he could expect for equal effort in the crowded city.

Intrigue Will Fail

It Cannot Halt an American Merchant Marine; Outrageous Exaggerations of the "Leviathan Robbery"

Not only Commander Cunningham of the Leviathan, but every American has reason to resent the outrageous exaggerations recently cabled from London of the so-called "$500,000 wall robbery" alleged to have been committed aboard that ship.

The winnowed facts are that the robbery does not exceed $6000 in amount and that there isn't a Chinaman's chance that it could have been committed aboard the Leviathan.

Why, then, this foreign eagerness to pin a stigma on the prize vessel in American's merchant marine?

Estimates of human motives are necessarily speculative. But there is one historic fact which bobs up at every turn in this country's relationship to ocean carrying. It is the skill with which those who do not want to see our commerce carried in American ships pursue the arts of discrediting propaganda.

There is reason to believe that the minds of the American people, long confused, are now getting set to demand and support a merchant marine commensurate with the importance of America in world affairs and proportionate to the needs of national defense.

It is too late for propaganda to defeat this purpose. If it becomes a little more unscrupulous it may serve a good turn by hastening our steps.

WHAT HAPPINESS REALLY MEANS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WHEN my two girls were getting ready to enter Wellesley they suddenly discovered about two weeks before their entrance examinations that they were to be quizzed upon the subject of trigonometry and knew nothing about it. But they had to pass an examination on it.

So I got them a tutor at $20 a week and he prepared them so that they passed and entered the college.

While engaged in this study they came to me one day and asked me what a sine and a co-sine were. I told them to look in the dictionary as I had to. The truth is I didn't know what those things were myself.

They looked in the dictionary and then brought the book to me saying they didn't understand the definition. Reading the definition, I replied that they had nothing on me, that I didn't understand it myself.

Some days afterward I was talking to a very distinguished mathematician and told him this story, and asked him why it was that I who flattered myself on being an intelligent man could not understand what kind of a thing a sine was.

"Why," he replied, "that is very simple. A sine isn't anything at all."

"I know," I answered. "But why put it in the dictionary?" He said: "A sine is not a thing. It is a relation between two things."

The greatest thing anybody can learn as regards their personal happiness is that it is not a thing, but a relation between two things.

We never realize what a blessing good roads are until we come to a detour and have to travel over a mile or so of bumpy dirt road.

We never know what a good job we have until we compare it with that of somebody who has a worse one. If all we have to do is to keep books and write letters it makes us feel good to see the farmhand who has to hew the wood, milk the cow, water the stock and clean out the stable.

I know a woman who is grieving herself to death over a wayward child for whom she has done everything possible. She needs to get her mind off of her child and think of what she possesses, of how many sources of happiness still remain to her.

The homely advice, "Count your blessings," is a good one. We can only be happy in what we possess by contemplating those who have less and not those who have more.

So look about you, and see how many people are worse off than you are, and be thankful things are no worse.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

DOES the woman still pay and pay 'n' pay? Not so you'd notice it.

Time was when the men had all the breaks, particularly in our courts. Go they have them now? They do NOT! As many an unfortunate defendant can testify, in fact, being a male has become about one of the worst risks a human can assume. What with Main Acts and Branch of Promise bills and Contributing to Morality Agency charges and general jiggles like Wrecking Legislation, boys have a hard time in 1928.

Come now a "Mother of Sons" with a suggestion. She has been watching the legal cleanings pulled by some of our Poor Little Girls and their Mad Mamas. The Outraged Innocence. The trembling lip, the heaving chest, the tearful eyes. The indignant Judge denouncing the sanctity of American Womanhood—and how!

The Symptomatic Jury. And the resultant large, fat, juicy wads of cash extracted from some poor sap who has just about as much chance against such a lineup as the proverbial rabbit. And this Mother of Sons, thinks that something should be done.

Miss Robinson: "I think it is terrible the way girls and women are taken out of court to get money out of men. Most of it amounts to legalized blackmail. Some desperate woman will marry her daughter off to some silly old man and then the courts will help them strip him of everything he has—old car, cash, jewelry, a motorcar and all such robbery 'almoney.' Or some other circumstance with some boy and use the courts to get damages out of him."

It has become a regular hold-up game, but it isn't fair to blame it all on the Judge. Every time a woman will agree with some of the clubwoman flock into court to see against him, and the Judge knows that perfectly well. So what can he do but let the case go only out of court, but not what he is up against. Public indignation still holds that all women are good, helpless, innocent victims of man's wickedness. Also, if he doesn't do what they wish the clubwoman will see their voice.

Miss Robinson: "I think these courts are a tiger. And I know several harassed Judges who will agree with me. Copyright, 1928, Mrs. Parsons Street, Inc."

New York Day by Day

O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 5.—Glib tongues, so responsive to trigger minds in private, are often mute in public. With the customary few exceptions, the most intellectual New Yorkers are "flaps" as after-dinner speakers. When called upon suddenly, they flounder in helpless despair.

An election teacher, who has taught many to make finished talks, is unable himself to rise to the occasion. Cratory is a tricky gift at best. Many who have had a forensic flair for years suddenly face an audience with a speech and rarely are they able to gain control of themselves again.

Peculiarly enough, men always ready and anxious to make a speech on any subject at any occasion are rarely finished speakers. They are usually people who have an inborn timidity for public speaking.

There is a well-known editor whose duties made it imperative to attend dinners at a public man's. When introduced, he would turn red, make a bow and all down in confusion. Banqueters looked upon him pityingly and wondered a little just why he came.

About a year ago as he sat in torture again awaiting his turn to make a spectacle of himself, he suddenly reassured his certainty and an intellectual equipment to compare with anyone present and could express himself in print far better than they.

Too, he had observed at one time or another with every man present. In the midst of these reflections he was called upon. He stood for a few seconds for his head to clear, and decided to forget everyone present and address his remarks solely to an invisible friend present. His speech was eloquent. He had broken the seal.

THE most astonishing story to me was W. J. Bryan. It was not so much what he said, but his delivery—his manner of whipping a whisper into a roar. He was often Swat, Boys, Swat!

The United States Army in the Philippines has found a new foe. The natives are fairly well pacified, the Orient is peacefully inclined toward the American flag, but insects have mobilized their forces and are devouring American fortifications.

Scientists with long-range glasses see the future of the human race a constant warfare against insects. The "Swat the Fly" crusade is a mild affair at outposts compared to the battle that will be fought in the year A. D. 19,928.

It is feared that even Secretary Kellogg could not draw up a treaty that would cause the insects to disarm.

Friends, Romans and countrymen—prepare for war. Swat the fly and bang the mosquito! It's going to be a tough world 18,000 years from now if we don't.

another Nellie and renew home ties, he will die, too. Grief will kill him soon.

The British ask, as well they may, "Have we the RIGHT to keep caged up creatures that in form, at least, in expression, in bony structure and in blood qualities are so much like ourselves?"

It is wrong. It is also wrong to keep men caged up in mines where they die young, clerks caged up in offices where they bore themselves to death. But it's all a part of civilization.

Poor Ginger must endure his lot with the rest of us higher primates.
